

Press Release

23 February 2016

Start of Construction for the New Moxy Hotel at Gateway Gardens

Vastint Hospitality and Marriott International started construction in December 2015 of their largest Moxy hotel to date at Gateway Gardens, right at Frankfurt International Airport. The site is at Frankfurt's newest business district, within walking distance of the airport's Terminal 2.

The new lifestyle hotel brand, Moxy Hotels, aims to shake up traditional hospitality and offer a fun, and stylish hotel experience for young at heart travellers. Moxy Frankfurt Gateway Gardens will have 307 rooms and 51 underground parking spots. Vastint Hospitality, the owners and developers, commissioned Industriebau Imetaal to build the new scheme. It will be managed by the franchisee, Nordic Hospitality.

The hotel is scheduled to be completed and to open for business in 2016.

"We are delighted to have won over Vastint and Marriot for our city quarter," said Dr. Kerstin Hennig, Managing Director of Grundstücksgesellschaft Gateway Gardens. "The superb location of Gateway Gardens at Frankfurt Airport and Frankfurt's municipal forest lends the quarter a unique dynamic that is perfectly compatible with the concept and ambition of Moxy. With a view to the current and future passenger volumes at the airport, the hotel is urgently needed," Dr. Hennig went on to say.

Peter Andrews, Managing Director of Vastint Hospitality, elaborated: "The location of Gateway Gardens close to Germany's busiest airport and on a growing business park is ideal and represents one of our most exciting projects."

Grundstücksgesellschaft Gateway Gardens GmbH

A joint venture of Fraport AG, OFB Projektentwicklung GmbH, and Gross & Partner Grundstücksentwicklungsgesellschaft mbH

We will gladly send you high-resolution image data for the picture below:

The young hotel brand “Moxy” is coming to Gateway Gardens.

About Gateway Gardens

Gateway Gardens is a “Global Business Village” in the European heartland, and with a projected gross floor area of 700,000 sqm on an estate of 35 hectares one of the largest developments of any airport city in Europe.

In October 2014, Gateway Gardens became the first commercial quarter to be certified for its sustainability by the DGNB German Sustainable Building Council. The driving force behind Gateway Gardens is the joint commitment of Fraport AG, Gross & Partner Grundstücksentwicklungsgesellschaft mbH, OFB Projektentwicklung GmbH, and the City of Frankfurt am Main. Since the completion of the first building at Gateway Gardens in 2008, 34 percent of the space have already been marketed. The combined workforce of the companies now domiciled here adds up to more than 4,500 employees.

Press contact:

Dietmar Müller, press spokesman of Gateway Gardens
(DAFKO Deutsche Agentur für Kommunikation GmbH)

Tel.: +49 (0)173-6733538

E-mail: mueller@gateway-gardens.de

www.gateway-gardens.de